OFFICE SAFETY . . . .

Razor blades, tacks and pins can hurt. Store them in containers (typewriter ribbon boxes are good). Keep sharp pencils in the desk, not points up in a desk-top holder. Paper cuts are painful and can become infected. Use a rubber finger guard when working with stacks of papers, and a wetting device, not your tongue, for sealing envelopes. Keep your fingers clear when you use the paper cutter. Pick up broken glass with a paper towel, not your fingers. If there are any sharp edges or projections on your office furniture, report them.

NO BOATMAIL PACKAGES ACCEPTED FOR THE USA

Contrary to the information reported in yesterday's Diario, the government post offices do not accept surface mail packages for the U.S.A. until further notice.
